- On March 9, 2020, the Company provided details on five additional PoNS Treatment clinics that were recently authorized in the Greater Toronto Area and Southwestern Ontario. Helius has now expanded access for patients seeking PoNS Treatment to fourteen clinic locations in Canada, with eight in Ontario, the most populous province.

"2019 was a year of important progress for Helius," said Philippe Deschamps, Chief Executive Officer of Helius. "We began the initial commercialization of our PoNS Treatment in Canada, developing our network of authorized clinics to include seven clinics and generating $1.5 million in revenue from the sale of our PoNS devices in 2019. As we progressed through our initial commercialization, we made important changes to our commercial strategy, which included acquiring the Heuro Canada operating entity and establishing an internal team to lead our commercial efforts. Under the leadership of our new internal team, in 2020 we have implemented a new targeting and pricing strategy to enhance clinic engagement and patient adoption and expanded our authorized clinic network to include a total of fourteen clinic locations."

Mr. Deschamps continued: "From a regulatory standpoint, in 2019 we engaged with Health Canada to pursue a new clinical indication for the treatment of gait deficit caused by Multiple Sclerosis ("MS"), with the goal of expanding our addressable patient population to include the approximately 93,000 individuals living with MS in Canada. We were pleased to complete our application for this indication on February 27, 2020. Importantly, as we announced in our strategic update press release on March 2nd, we are also prioritizing an MS indication as the pathway to pursue for our first US clearance of the PoNS device. This important business decision was made based on the quality of the data included in our Health Canada application and the large number of U.S. patients suffering from MS that stand to benefit from PoNS Treatment. We believe that we have made considerable progress in 2019 and recent months in developing our pathway to pursuing our new request for de novo classification and clearance of the PoNS device for the treatment of chronic balance deficit due to mmTBI. After incorporating specific recommendations received from the FDA in January 2020, we have finalized the design for a new trial, called TBI-002, which will be used to support our submission for the mmTBI indication."

"As a result of our efforts in 2019 and recent months, we believe we are well-positioned in 2020 to build on our initial commercial traction and regulatory progress. We have begun this year with a clear commercial and marketing strategy in Canada and the potential to expand our addressable market opportunity further with a new indication for MS. In the U.S., we are prioritizing an MS indication as the pathway to pursue for our first US clearance of the PoNS device, which will expand our global addressable market opportunity further. Lastly, we expect to begin enrollment for TBI-002 in April 2020 and target submission to the FDA in the second quarter of 2021. With these opportunities in view, we look forward to executing efficiently this year in order to expand access to our innovative PoNS technology for the benefit of our patients and shareholders."
